

Mullah to the Rescue

Synopsis

This is a funny story about a man called Mulla Nasruddin. This story will make you laugh at what he does and thinks. One night when it was full moon Mulla Nasruddin was walking back home quickly, on his way he passed an old well so he stopped to see how much water was in the well. When he peeped into the well, he thought the moon had fallen into the well because he could see the reflection of the moon in the water of the well as it was a full moon night. He thought that if the moon stayed in the well at night it would freeze as the water in the well was icy cold at night and in the morning the moon could melt with the heat of the Sun, so he thought he must take the moon out of the well and put it back in the sky where it belongs. He went back home and brought a rope tied it into a loop and flung it into the well. The rope got hooked deep inside the well he tried hard to pull the rope out but could not get it out he thought the moon was really very heavy. He then rested his right foot at the edge of the well and pulled with all his might suddenly the rope loosened out in the well the Mulla fell flat on his back hit his head on the ground and he fainted. After sometime when he woke up and opened his eyes, he saw the big bright moon high up in the sky and was so excited as he thought he had pulled the moon out of the well and sent it back into the sky. Mulla felt he had done a very special task.
