My Personal Profile

Greetings! I'm Nita, my hometown is Kolkata and my alma mater is XYZ School. My parents admitted me into this amazing school as a toddler and today I bid goodbye to it, as a young lady. I will always remember the wide corridors, looming archways and the smiling faces of my mentors who were always ready with encouraging words, which kept me focussed on my goal.

My academic interests include accountancy, business studies as well as English. The art of communication has always fascinated me and I am always amazed at how tonal inflexion and emphasis can add or detract from the meaning of words. I intend to apply my communication skills, commercial aptitude and culinary interests to the Hospitality and Tourism industry.

While I do enjoy attending cultural events and lending backstage support, I am athletically inclined and have always participated in various sports and athletic events. During the course of my school years I have won certificates and medals for having placed first in many a track and field event. As a member of the senior school basketball team, I rallied my team to success at every opportunity and kept them motivated through the occasional failure. In acknowledgement of my sportsman spirit I was made the Games Captain during my final school year.

In the future I see myself as a Customer Relationship Manager at a seven star hotel. My penchant to see this dream come to fruition is what has prompted me to apply to your esteemed institution. The Bachelor of Arts, Hospitality and Tourism degree course at the International Institute of Hotel Management, Bangalore, will set me in good stead for success in my career.

My affable nature and exemplary organizational skills are strengths that I have often been commended for. I believe that my attention to detail and willingness to shoulder responsibility are qualities that set me apart, as these are qualities not easily found in today's youth. I am thus confident that given the opportunity, I will be an asset to the International Institute of Hotel Management.
